Raindropss Anbagam – A New Home for Senior Citizens

RAINDROPSS Charity Foundation inaugurated Raindropss Anbagam, a free senior citizen's day-care and residential home at Pothur, Thirumullaivoyal, Chennai, marking a significant new initiative towards providing care, dignity and companionship to deserving senior citizens.

The inaugural ceremony was graced by Dr. VG. Santhosam, Chairman, VGP Group of Companies; Music Composer and Goodwill Ambassador of Raindropss Charity Foundation, AR. Raihanah; Anandam Founder Bhageerathy Ramamoorthy; Actress Vadivukkarasi; Vanitha, Thiruvallur District Social Welfare Officer, VGP Senior Director VGP Rajadas; Aravind Jayabal, Founder & Managing Trustee, Raindropss Charity Foundation, Vilakkukadai Rajalakshmi Sivasankaran and Manvasanai Menaka.

Raindropss Anbagam has been envisioned as a home, not merely a shelter, offering deserving senior citizens a safe and supportive environment with a focus on comfort, nutrition, companionship, emotional well-being and dignity.

"Anbagam is more than a building. It is an expression of gratitude towards a generation that built our families and our society. Every senior citizen deserves to age with dignity, affection and a sense of belonging. Through Anbagam, we want to assure them that they are not alone and that there will always be a place they can call home," said Aravind Jayabal, Founder & Managing Trustee, Raindropss Charity Foundation.

Built Through Collective Compassion

Raindropss Anbagam has been established with the support of generous founding partners, individual donors, CSR Partners and well-wishers, whose contributions helped create and equip the facility.

The Foundation also expressed its gratitude to the numerous donors who contributed essential products and services in kind towards making Anbagam a warm and functional home.

Part of Raindropss' Vision 2026–2036

Raindropss Anbagam is the first major initiative under the Foundation's Vision 2026–2036, which aims to develop sustainable social-support initiatives addressing the needs of vulnerable and underserved communities.

The Foundation's larger vision also includes Raindropss Arivagam – Centre for Knowledge & Learning and Raindropss Thirangam – Centre for Talent & Inclusion.

With the launch of Anbagam, Raindropss Charity Foundation hopes to create a space where senior citizens can experience their later years with love, respect, companionship and dignity.

Raindropss Anbagam functions at Plot No. 23, Thirumullai Lake View Garden, Kannadapalayam, Pothur, Thirumullaivoyal, Chennai – 600062.

Stray dogs inside Mangal Eri Park worry parents

By Our Correspondent

THE presence of a few stray dogs inside the Mangal Eri Park in Mogappair has become a matter of concern for some regular visitors, particularly parents who bring their children to the Greater Chennai Corporation-maintained park.

The park, which is used by hundreds of residents every day, is a popular destination for morning and evening walkers. Children also regularly visit the park to play. However, the presence of stray dogs within the premises has left some parents cautious, even though no untoward incident involving the animals has been reported so far.

Residents said the dogs are often seen resting near the walls and other relatively quiet portions of the park. While they have not been reported to have attacked or chased visitors, some parents said their children feel uncomfortable when they encounter the animals.

"We bring our children here to play and spend some time outdoors. A few of them are scared when they see the dogs inside the park. Nothing has happened so far, but as parents, we naturally remain cautious," said a mother who regularly visits the park.

Another parent said the issue should ideally be addressed before there is an incident. "We do not want to wait for something to happen before action is taken. The park is primarily meant for public recreation, and children should be able to use it without fear. The dogs could perhaps be shifted to a safer location outside the play areas," she said.

However, dog lovers and some other regular visitors have a different view. They said the presence of the dogs by itself should not be considered a problem, particularly since there have been no reports of aggression or attacks.

"These dogs are not harming anyone. They generally lie quietly and do not trouble walkers. There is no reason to remove them simply because some people are uncomfortable seeing them," said a resident who feeds stray dogs in the neighbourhood.

Another dog lover said residents should adopt a balanced approach. "The dogs are also part of the neighbourhood. If they are healthy and not aggressive, they should not be treated as a nuisance. At the same time, their presence should be monitored so that children and other park users are not put at risk," he said.

The issue highlighted the challenge faced by civic authorities in balancing public safety concerns with animal welfare. Residents said the Greater Chennai Corporation could assess the situation and ensure that the dogs are monitored, particularly around areas frequented by children.

For now, the dogs continue to be seen inside the park, while parents and dog lovers remain divided over whether their presence warrants any intervention.

Three women arrested after kicking traffic barricades

By N Rathi Chithra

THREE young women were arrested last week after a video showing them riding a scooter without helmets and kicking traffic barricades on 100 Feet Road in Thirumangalam went viral on social media, triggering concern among motorists and residents over reckless behaviour on a busy city road.

According to the police, the incident occurred when the three women, aged between 20 and 23, were travelling together on a scooter. The video, recorded by a motorist travelling behind them, showed the women kicking barricades placed along the middle of the road as they rode past.

The video was subsequently circulated widely on social media. Acting on the footage, personnel from the Anna Nagar Traffic Investigation Wing traced the scooter using its registration number and identified the three women as residents of Chetpet, Shenoy Nagar and Kolathur.

The traffic police arrested the trio and registered a case in connection with the traffic violations and other offences. They were later released on station bail after being warned against repeating such violations.

The incident has drawn criticism from motorists who said such behaviour on a busy stretch such as 100 Feet Road could have resulted in a serious accident.

"We watched the video that went viral on social media and were shocked. This is not a joke. 100 Feet Road is a busy stretch with a large number of two-wheelers, cars and other vehicles moving through the area," said a resident of Thirumangalam.

"Usually, we have seen young men behaving irresponsibly like this on the road, but it is shocking to see even young women engaging in such dangerous behaviour. Such actions should not be treated as mere traffic violations," he said.

Motorists pointed out that kicking the barricades and traffic cones into the path of other vehicles could have had serious consequences.

"They were not only putting themselves at risk. They were also endangering the lives of fellow motorists. A rider or driver could have suddenly encountered the cone after it was kicked onto the road, lost balance or swerved into another vehicle," said another motorist who frequently uses 100 Feet Road.

Residents also questioned whether the action taken against the trio adequately reflected the potential danger caused to other road users.

"Police should have considered invoking more stringent provisions relating to endangering the safety of other road users. When someone deliberately creates an obstruction on a busy road, it can lead to an accident and even loss of life," said a resident.

The incident has also renewed calls for motorists to follow basic road-safety rules, including wearing helmets, avoiding reckless driving and respecting traffic barricades placed to regulate vehicle movement.

Police said the investigation was initiated after the video surfaced on social media and the vehicle was identified through its registration details.

3 Imaging Innovations: One Goal

MGM Healthcare Malar, Adyar is advancing precision imaging through ultra-low-dose chest CT, low-dose CT coronary angiography, and deep-learning/AI-powered image reconstruction and quantitative analysis.

These innovations support earlier and more accurate detection of lung and heart diseases while reducing radiation and contrast exposure. The hospital has screened 260 patients through its ultra-low-dose chest CT programme, identifying 54 cancers, while 133 coronary CT examinations were performed over 10 days using approximately 15 mL of contrast per examination. By combining deep learning, advanced imaging protocols, and radiological expertise, MGM Healthcare Malar aims to make diagnosis earlier, safer, more precise, and more patient-centric.

The goal is to deliver imaging that is earlier, safer, more precise, and more clinically useful, helping to make better-informed decisions.

Together with Seniors, Every Step of the Way

MGM Healthcare Malar, Adyar presents Senior Social Circle — a community for seniors that cares, connects and celebrates healthy ageing. The Senior Social Circle is a wellness initiative creating a warm and engaging space for seniors to connect, learn, and thrive. Each session brings together members of the senior community for expert-led health talks, interactive wellness activities, cognitive and physical exercises, and opportunities for meaningful social interaction. Sessions cover a range of age-related health topics, including heart health, memory care, fall prevention, bone health and brain health.

Beyond healthcare, the initiative focuses on companionship, inclusion and joyful ageing, with activities that encourage social bonding, mental stimulation and active participation.

India Bag Silver, Bronze In Chess Olympiad

For Velammal alumna Savitha Shri, a debutant it was an unforgettable Olympiad. Apart from her gold winning performance, played a massive role in India's bronze medal finish

By R Srinivasa Raghavan

UZBEKISTAN triumphed (20 points) in the Open section of the 46th Chess Olympiad in Samarkand, Uzbekistan. Uzbekistan took the title with a 2.5-1.5 victory over Ukraine in the 11th and final round. The top three boards ended in draws, with Mukhiddin Madaminov posting a victory over Roman Dehatirov in the fourth board to seal victory. India bagged silver with 18 points, followed by Germany (18) taking the bronze.

Uzbekistan won the Chess Olympiad for the second time after winning it in 2022 (Chennai) for the first time.

In the women's section, China emerged champions with 20 points. China defeated Vietnam 3-1 in the final round, with victories by Zhu Jiner over Le Thao Nguyen Pham and Lu Miaoyi's victory over Phuong Hanh Luong. Elanaz Kaliakhmet victory Alicia Silwicka salvaged a draw for Kazakhstan against Poland (2-2) and thereby earned a silver with 18 points. Koneru Humpy fired in the final round, defeating Nana Dzagnidze in pretty fashion to put India ahead. Georgia made it 1-1 with Nino Batsiashvili defeating Divya Deshmukh. Savita Shri made a heroic save to force a draw against Meri Arabidze as India drew Georgia 2-2. This draw fetched India bronze with 17 points.

Nodirbek Abdusattorov had a tournament to remember, winning the individual gold on the top board for Uzbeks. Remaining unbeaten, he scored 8.5/11 with five wins, and had a rating performance of 2869! Uzbeks won two more medals: Javokhir Sindarov bagged a bronze on the second board with 7/10, while Nodirbek Yakkuboev claimed a silver, scoring 7.5/10.

Rameshbabu Praggnanandhaa, who played a solid tournament, scoring 6.5/10. He scored a crucial win over Anish Giri, which clinched the match for India over The Netherlands. He bagged an individual bronze.

World champion Dommaraju Gukesh recovered his form, scoring lots of wins, including wins over Alexander Donchehko and Alexei Shirov. Except for his last round loss against Gleb Dudin, it was a good tournament as Gukesh scored 8.5/11 on the fourth board and won an individual silver.

Arjun Erigaisi posted a crucial win over Peter Leko in the final round, which helped India draw against Hungary and bag a silver. Arjun had an individual score of 5.5/10.

Zhu Jiner (7/9, 1st board individual gold) and Lu Miaoyi (9.5/11, 3rd board individual gold) were the top performers in China's emphatic victory.

Savitha shines

India won four medals in the women's section. Savitha Shri, who won the Asian Individual title this time was the star player for India in Chess Olympiad this year. The former Velammal student playing on the fifth board, won crucial games for India, on her way to winning the individual gold scoring 9/10, with a performance rating of 2569.

Koneru Humpy had the best Olympiad, winning an individual bronze on the top board, securing 7 out of 10. Despite losing in the last round, Divya Deshmukh earned individual silver in the third board (6.5/10). Vantika Agarwal earned a bronze with an outstanding 6/8 on the fourth board.

As far as Savitha Shri was concerned, it was an unforgettable Olympiad. She didn't lose a single game. The unbeaten record fetched her the individual gold, and also played a massive role in India's bronze medal finish. It was an outstanding performance by all means. She is now a student of M.O.P. Vaishnav College for Women.

This was Savitha Shri's Olympiad debut and she made quite an impression. The 19-year-old Velammalian went on to become one of India's standout performers.

Other winners include KS Subiksha (4x100 medley & 4 x100 freestyle, 2 silver), V Srihari 4x100 freestyle - bronze, S Gokulan 4x100 freestyle - bronze. S Oviya 4x100 freestyle - bronze. The winners are trained by NIS coaches Mr KT Muralidharan and Mrs Rani Muralidharan.

Learning Beyond the Classroom

LITTLE Ella School, believes that some of the most meaningful learning happens when children step beyond the classroom and experience the world around them.

As part of their experiential learning programme, young learners embarked on an exciting educational field trip to a supermarket, turning an everyday shopping experience into a wonderful opportunity for exploration and discovery.

The children explored the colourful world of fruits, vegetables, groceries, packaged foods, household essentials and everyday products.

The highlight of the visit was the billing experience. The children were allowed to select their items, approach the billing counter, tender exact cash and receive the bill. The excitement on their faces made the experience even more special. From exploring new products to observing the billing process, every moment sparked curiosity, conversation and joyful learning.

At Little Ella, they strive to create opportunities where children explore, discover, experience and learn with joy — because every little experience can become a big learning moment.

Man cheated after befriending stranger at family function

By N Rathi Chithra

A 36-year-old resident of Anna Nagar East, who befriended a man at a family function and later allowed him to stay at his house, allegedly ended up losing 25 sovereigns of gold jewellery and ₹14 lakh in cash. The Anna Nagar police have arrested the accused and recovered the stolen valuables and cash.

The arrested man was identified as Tharun, 26, of KCB Colony in Tiruvottiyur. Police said he had allegedly befriended the victim, Satheesh Kumar, around three months ago at a relative's function.

Satheesh Kumar, who lives separately from his wife and son due to differences with his wife, runs two businesses. According to police, Tharun introduced himself as a businessman from Hyderabad and told Satheesh Kumar that he stayed in star hotels whenever he visited Chennai on business.

The two subsequently remained in touch. On September 17, Tharun contacted Satheesh Kumar and sought permission to stay at his house for two days, claiming that he had completed some business-related work in Chennai.

Trusting his acquaintance, Satheesh Kumar agreed. However, instead of staying for two days, Tharun remained at the house for around 10 days, police said.

Satheesh Kumar later became suspicious of his activities and checked the gold jewellery and cash kept inside a bureau. He was shocked to find that the valuables were missing.

He subsequently lodged a complaint with the crime wing of the Anna Nagar police.

A police team led by the Crime Wing Inspector secured Tharun and questioned him. During the investigation, police allegedly found that he had made duplicate keys for the bureau and locker and gradually removed the jewellery and cash while staying at the house.

Police said the stolen jewellery was subsequently sold and the money was allegedly used to repay debts and meet lavish expenses.

The police arrested Tharun and recovered 25 sovereigns of gold jewellery and ₹14 lakh in cash from him.

Police also found that a criminal case had earlier been registered against him in the Tambaram Forest Range.

The incident has raised concerns about the risks of allowing people who are newly acquainted at social gatherings or functions into one's home.

"We should be extremely careful about trusting strangers whom we meet at parties, functions or other socialising venues. A friendly conversation or an impressive introduction does not mean we know the person's background," said a resident of Anna Nagar.

"People often let their guard down because the person was introduced at a gathering involving relatives or acquaintances. But that alone should not be treated as a guarantee of someone's character or intentions," another resident said. Police advised residents to exercise caution before sharing personal information, financial details or access to their homes with people they have only recently met.
