Mogappair Police Station building nearing completion

By N Rathi Chithra

Work on constructing a new building for the V3 J J Nagar Police Station in Mogappair East is nearing completion. The old police station building, which had vestiges of the past, was pulled down many months ago and since then the work to construct a modern police station was ongoing. Presently, the work on the new police station building is nearing completion and the premises has even got a fresh bright coating of paint work.

Due to the ongoing works at the current premises, the V3 J J Nagar Police Station was temporarily shifted to the premises of ht Nolambur Police Station several months ago, as report by Mogappair Mail in the past. Local residents are also eagerly looking forward to the inauguration of the new police station building and the complete shifting of law and order operations at this building.

The residents had earlier said that the place where the old police station stood was one of the oldest police stations in the region that had been constructed in the 1990s. At that time, in the absence of a police station in the locality, crime, especially gang wars and extortion rackets were quite common. "I still remember that in the early part of the 1990s, a tea shop owner on the very road where the new police station building is coming up, was murdered by a gang of extortionists as he had refused to pay them money as demanded. Also in the old police station building there was a case of a custodial death sometime during the late 1990s leading to a massive protest by local people," recalled Manikumar, an old time resident of Mogappair East, who has seen the locality transform from a no man's land to a bustling commercial and residential hub now.

The residents said that the location of the police station is strategic and easily accessible as it is also close to Collector Nagar.

Whereas now they have to go Nolambur to lodge any complaints. The sooner the station is opened at this location the better for the residents.

Sources in the Police Department said the inauguration of the new police station building is likely to happen only after the results of the Lok Sabha elections are declared on June 4 as the election Model Code of Conduct would be in force till then.

Election Commission makes pitch for 100% voting in neighbourhood

By Our Correspondent

With less than a week left for the polling for the Lok Sabha elections in Tamil Nadu, the Election Commission of India is again taking efforts to create awareness among the people living in different places including the neighbourhood of Mogappair, Anna Nagar, Ambattur and their surroundings on the need to exercise their franchise without fail on Friday, the April 19th.

The Election Commission of India has placed flex boards at many locations in and around the neighbourhoods of Mogappair and Anna Nagar, including near parks and Metro Rail Stations in the localities, calling for 100 per cent voting by the residents. To ensure that the message reaches a large number of people, these message boards are also in Tamil. These flex boards also highlight the voting date so that the D-day is ingrained in the minds of the people.

“Our objective is 100 per cent voting” and “No voter to be left behind” are some of the messages on the flex board placed at the different locations by the District Election Officer and the Election Commission of India. A similar initiative was undertaken even during the last general elections. Residents and well meaning activists in the neighbourhoods of Anna Nagar, Ambattur and Mogappair welcomed the initiative of the Election Commission of India. “Since the Metro Rail Stations are located along the bus routes and close to bus stops, the message will reach thousands of people on a daily basis. This way the objective of a higher voter turnout can be achieved,” feels Ajay Kumar, a resident. “Through VVPAT people also would be reassured that the Electronic Voting Machines cannot be tampered with as is being alleged,” he added citing some flex boards on VVPAT kept in some locations.
