Cucumbers, the best cooling vegetable to beat the summer

As the heat of the summer months awaits us, it is time to include cooling vegetables and fruits in your diet. One of the best ones which is a must-have is cucumbers. Containing 90 percent water, they are a powerhouse of nutrients and antioxidants which help regulate blood pressure, rehydrate the body, and promote healthy skin.

According to a renowned dietician, and a certified diabetes educator, there is over 95 percent water content and cucumbers are an excellent way to stay hydrated, particularly as temperatures start to rise. Proper hydration is essential for maintaining optimal bodily functions and promoting healthy skin.

promote regular bowel movements and help prevent constipation.

Despite being low in calories, cucumbers are packed with essential nutrients. They're a good source of vitamin K, vitamin C, potassium, and magnesium, all of which play vital roles in supporting overall health.

They do have antioxidant properties too. They contain antioxidants such as beta-carotene and flavonoids, which help neutralise harmful free radicals in the body. Consuming foods rich in antioxidants is important for protecting cells from damage and reducing the risk of chronic diseases.

Cucumbers are incredibly versatile and can be incorporated into a wide range of dishes. "Whether sliced in salads, blended into smoothies, or used as a crunchy topping for sandwiches, cucumbers add texture, flavour, and nutritional value to meals.

Due to their high water and fibre content, cucumbers are filling despite being low in calories. Incorporating cucumbers into your meals can help you feel satisfied while managing your weight effectively.

They are rich in fibre, which is essential for digestive health. Including cucumbers in your diet can

Whether you have them as a refreshing snack or incorporate them into your meals, cucumbers offer a multitude of health benefits that make them a valuable addition to any diet. So, next time you're at the market, be sure to grab some cucumbers and reap the rewards of this versatile and nutritious vegetable.

Death of fish in Mangal Eri pond shocks park users

By N Rathi Chithra

Regular visitors to the Mangal Eri Park, a popular lung space maintained by the Greater Chennai Corporation in the heart of Mogappair were shocked this past week when fish in the pond situated inside the park had died. Morning walkers said they were taken aback to see dead fish floating in the Mangal Eri Park, which has been formally christened as Arignar Anna Park, on Velalar Street. The park falls within the jurisdiction of Zone VII (Ambattur Zone) of the Greater Chennai Corporation.

According to local people, a few years ago, some regular walkers at the park had let out quite a few Asian cyprinid fish, which in common parlance is called as the 'golden fish', into the pond and the fishes managed to survive, growing in size and colour over the past many months. However, this past week more than 10 fishes were suddenly found floating dead in the pond upsetting a section of the park goers.

The park users also alerted the officials of the Greater Chennai Corporation. The officials of the civic agency thereafter decided to test the water in the pond to ascertain if any contamination in the water had caused the death of the fishes. "We removed more than 10 dead fish from the pond including the golden fish varieties," confirmed an official of the Greater Chennai Corporation's Ambattur Zone.

According to another official of the civic agency, water contamination cannot be ruled out. This official said that in December when cyclone Micaung had pounded the whole of Greater Chennai and its surrounding areas, waste water from the nearby stormwater drain could have entered the pond inside the Mangal Eri Park, thereby getting mixed with its water. This the official believed could have led to depletion of oxygen in the pond's water.

Irrespective of whether wastewater had entered the pond inside the park or not, the regular visitors of the park said officials of the civic agency must expeditiously get the water tested to conclude the cause of the death of fishes. "We do not want to have a situation where more fishes end up dying in the pond. A good fish ecosystem is needed to serve as an added attraction in this park, which attracts hundreds of residents from different parts of the neighbourhood," said Rajavel, a local resident.

Students of Velammal Academy, Nolambur had the privilege of meeting Nigar Shaji, ISRO's "Sunny Lady", the Project Director of Aditya L1 mission for an interaction session.

Tragic death of Mogappair resident adds to toll on Velliangiri Hills

By N Rathi Chithra

The serene slopes of the Velliangiri Hills, a revered pilgrimage site in Coimbatore, have once again turned sombre as another devotee tragically lost his life during the arduous trek. Raguraman, a 60-year-old resident of Mogappair West, Chennai, became the latest victim of the treacherous terrain, succumbing to severe breathlessness while attempting the pilgrimage earlier this month.

age or health conditions.

Expressing their grief and concern, residents of Mogappair lament the loss of one of their own in such tragic circumstances. Raguraman's untimely demise serves as a sobering reminder of the risks associated with the pilgrimage, particularly for those with pre-existing medical conditions or advanced age.

In response to the mounting fatalities, the Coimbatore Forest Department has intensified its efforts to educate and caution devotees about the challenges posed by the Velliangiri Hills. An advisory has been issued urging individuals with health complications, including heart ailments, breathing difficulties, obesity, and diabetes, to undergo thorough medical checks before embarking on the trek.

Furthermore, pilgrims are advised to travel in groups rather than alone, enhancing safety measures and minimizing the risks associated with the demanding terrain. The forest authorities emphasize the importance of adhering to these guidelines to prevent further tragedies and ensure the well-being of all devotees.

As the community mourns the loss of Raguraman, calls for greater awareness and precautionary measures echo among residents of Mogappair and beyond. The tragic incident underscores the need for vigilance and preparedness when undertaking spiritual journeys amidst nature's challenges.

"I came across a report that said last year eight people had died in the hills and the year before that as many as 13 persons had died there. It is better that pilgrims from our neighbourhood learn about this before setting out to trek in Velliangiri," said Prathaban, a resident of Mogappair.

According to reports from the police, Raguraman embarked on his journey on March 31 night, seeking solace and spiritual fulfillment amidst the rugged beauty of the hills. However, tragedy struck as he reached the fifth hill, his body overwhelmed by the strain of the climb. Despite efforts by the Forest Department's 'load men' to bring him down and subsequent examination by medical personnel, Raguraman could not be revived.

The loss of Raguraman marks the sixth death in just 45 days among devotees venturing into these revered hills. The alarming frequency of such incidents has prompted authorities to issue stern warnings and advisories to pilgrims, especially those vulnerable due to

Residents call for expediting work on milled roads

By Our Correspondent

Residents of Mogappair and surrounding areas are urging authorities to expedite road repair works following milling activities by contractors engaged by the Greater Chennai Corporation. The milling process, commonly undertaken before laying fresh layers of blue metal and tar, has left some roads in a state of unevenness, posing significant challenges to motorists, particularly those riding scooters and motorcycles.

One of the affected areas is Seekathakathi Salai in Mogappair East, where the road milling has rendered the surface precarious for two-wheeler riders. Residents and motorists alike have voiced their concerns, highlighting the difficulties faced due to the uneven road conditions.

Another resident emphasised the need for better planning and execution by road contractors. "While we understand the necessity of milling before laying new road surfaces, the process shouldn't render entire stretches of road unusable for an extended period," they stated. "Contractors should consider milling roads in parts, allowing for smoother traffic flow and minimising inconvenience to commuters."

Responding to residents' concerns, officials from the Greater Chennai Corporation acknowledged the importance of addressing the issue promptly. "We understand the difficulties faced by residents and motorists due to the milled roads," stated a corporation spokesperson. In light of the ongoing challenges, residents are hopeful that their voices will be heard, and necessary actions will be taken to expedite road repairs in affected areas. As they continue to navigate the uneven terrain with caution, they remain vigilant in advocating for improved infrastructure and better coordination between authorities and contractors.

V Haritha Shree, of Velammal Vidyalaya Annexure has made a mark on the international tennis stage by clinching the ITF J 60 Doubles title in Dehradun recently. Mr. Sriram Velmohan, Deputy Correspondent honoured her with a cash award of 15 lakhs.

Balalok School of Excellence CBSE, A unit of Jaya Group, Virugambakkam conducted the voters awareness rally on April 5. Led by Prof. Dr. A. Kanagaraj, Chairman, Dr K Navaraj, Vice Chairman, Dr. K. Deena, joint secretary, Dr. S. Karunakaran, Director and Mr. S. Muthuraj, Principal.

Little Hearts' graduation day

Little Hearts Fun Home and Day care functioning at Paneer Nagar, Mogappair, celebrated their 23rd Graduation Day. The celebration was unique and the venue was thematically decorated. Memory wall, photo booth, and candid moments, stole the hearts of parents and kids.

The kids walked through the red carpet wearing the grad costume and caps to receive their first pre-kindergarten certificates and awards. Dr S. Kumaran, Director of Srinivas Eye Hospital and Mrs. Anitha Kumaran, school correspondent were the guests of honour.

Dr.Kumaran delivered a special message on eye problems in usage of gadgets among children. Mrs Anitha Kumaran stressed about the importance of parenting and valuable time to be spent with kids.

Little Hearts has come up with summer camp and admission open for batch 2024-2025 – Registration's open – Contact 9500093113 / 044-26561547
