Gas pipeline warning signboards quietly dot Thirumangalam

By N Rathie Chithra

BRIGHT yellow warning signboards cautioning residents about underground high-pressure gas pipelines have been in place for several months now across parts of Thirumangalam and Anna Nagar West, though many residents say they noticed them only recently amid routine civic activity and neighbourhood discussions.

The circular boards, mounted on metal poles along residential streets, pavements and near compound walls, carry messages in Tamil and English warning of "high pressure gas pipelines" beneath the ground. They advise residents and contractors to seek clearance before excavation and display emergency contact numbers for quick response in case of suspected damage or leaks.

Civic officials said the signages were installed by Torrent Gas as part of safety compliance linked to the City Gas Distribution (CGD) network that has been steadily expanding in Anna Nagar in the north-western parts of Chennai. Underground pipelines were laid earlier to supply piped natural gas (PNG) to households and commercial establishments as a cleaner alternative to conventional fuels.

In Thirumangalam and Anna Nagar West, the boards have been positioned at regular intervals, often close to trees, footpaths and stretches where multiple utilities converge. In several locations, the markers stand alongside water lines, sewage connections and electrical cables, reflecting the dense underground infrastructure typical of older residential neighbourhoods.

"Initially, many of us did not pay much attention. Over time, as construction and repair works kept happening in nearby streets, people started reading the boards and realising what they signify," said a resident of Thirumangalam. Some residents said the signboards have helped prevent unplanned digging by private contractors, particularly during sewage repairs and cable-laying works.

Urban infrastructure experts point out that such surface markers are a routine safety requirement in cities with underground gas networks. "The purpose is not to alarm residents but to inform anyone undertaking excavation. Even small digging activities can be dangerous if a high-pressure pipeline is damaged," an expert noted.

Officials of the Greater Chennai Corporation said the boards form part of mandated safety norms under petroleum and natural gas regulations. "They have been in place for some time and are intended to serve as permanent reminders. As piped gas connections increase, public familiarity with such signages will grow," an official said.

While residents largely view the boards as a necessary safety measure, some have flagged issues related to placement on narrow pavements and near tree trunks. They have urged authorities to ensure that future installations balance visibility with pedestrian convenience.

SV High School celebrated the harvest festival Pongal with great enthusiasm, colour, and cultural pride. The campus came alive with festive decorations, traditional attire and joyful smiles as students and teachers came together to honour Tamil heritage. The celebration began with a special assembly highlighting the significance of Pongal and the values of gratitude, unity, and respect for nature. Students dressed in traditional costumes added vibrancy to the occasion, reflecting the rich cultural roots of the festival. A delightful kids' dance performance stole the spotlight, where young learners showcased graceful and energetic moves to traditional folk songs. Their confidence, coordination, and expressions won the hearts of everyone present. Adding to the excitement were traditional games, thoughtfully organised to introduce students to age-old recreational activities.

Swift civic action follows citizen's video on stray dogs

By Our Correspondent

PROMPT action by the Greater Chennai Corporation (GCC) brought relief to residents of Mogappair after a video showing a pack of stray dogs roaming a busy residential and school stretch opposite a private school went viral on social media earlier last week.

The video was posted by Mohamed Ashiff, a concerned citizen, who expressed concern over the movement of several stray dogs near the entrance of Spartan School in Mogappair. The footage, shared on social media platforms, showed a pack of dogs congregating on the road, raising fears among parents, pedestrians and motorists, especially during school hours.

Responding swiftly to the alert, officials of the Greater Chennai Corporation deployed a dog-catching team to the location under Zone 7 limits. Civic staff were seen using nets and other standard equipment to safely capture the animals as part of the Corporation's ongoing animal birth control (ABC) and rabies prevention programme. According to officials, the operation was carried out at two locations in Mogappair — Bharathi Nagar Street and Thiruvalluvar Salai — both of which fall under West End Colony limits.

Residents in the area welcomed the swift response, stating that the presence of stray dogs in large numbers had been a cause of anxiety, particularly for schoolchildren and elderly residents. "We are not against the dogs, but their sudden aggression and pack behaviour had become a safety issue. The Corporation acted quickly once the issue was highlighted," a local resident said.

"I am glad the Corporation responded immediately. This shows that responsible civic engagement can lead to quick solutions," he said.

Gukesh, Arjun share sixth spot In Tata Steel Masters

By R Srinivasa Raghavan

Nodirbek Abdusattorov continued his rich vein of form, jumping into the lead after the sixth round of the Tata Steel Masters in Wijk aan Zee, The Netherlands. Securing 4.5 points, the Uzbek No.1 leads by half a point, with seven rounds still remaining. His compatriot Javokhir Sindarov occupies the second spot with four points. Hans Niemann, Vincent Keymer and Vladimir Fedoseev shared the third spot (3.5).

World champion Dommaraju Gukesh and Arjun Erigaisi (both 3) were in joint sixth spot along with Yagiz Kaan Erdogmus, Jorden van Foreest and Mathias Bluebaum.

Defending champion Rameshbabu Praggnanandhaa (2) has had a tough tournament so far, going down to Abdusattorov and Arjun. Hopefully, he will bounce back in the second half of the tournament. Vr. Aravindh Chithambaram (2), who is the fourth Indian in the fray, has not had it easy, going down to Niemann and Keymer. Aravindh, who is making his debut (Wimbledon of Chess), will be looking to give a better account of himself in the coming rounds.

So emerges blitz champion

Former Fischer Random World champion Wesley So triumphed in the Tata Steel India Blitz at Kolkata. So, who has been a regular to this tournament, won in Kolkata for the first time. The American No.3 (12/18) outdistanced his nearest rivals by one point. There was a two-way tie for the second spot between Nihal Sarin and Arjun Erigaisi (both 11), with Nihal taking the second spot, thanks to a better tie-break. Arjun settled for third place.

Vidit Gujrathi shared the fourth spot with Hans Niemann (both 10), while R Praggnanandhaa (9.5) took the sixth place.

Five-time World champion Viswanathan Anand (8) had an ordinary tournament, ending in eighth place.

American champion Carissa Yip defeated Vantika Agarwal 1.5-0.5 in the blitz tie-break to capture the Tata Steel India Blitz women's title. Carissa and Vantika (both 10.5/18) tied for the top spot, which resulted in a playoff for the crown. Carissa, who made her first GM norm last year, gained 30.8 points, was the other highlight of her successful campaign.

Women's Grand Swiss winner R Vaishali (9.5) claimed the joint fourth place with Aleksandra Goryachkina. Women's World Cup winner Divya Deshmukh shared the sixth spot with Lagno and Nana Dzagnidze (all 8.5).

Varshney India's 92nd GM

Aaryan Varshney achieved his GM title, triumphing at the Andranik Margaryan Memorial in the Armenian capital of Yerevan. Scoring seven points in nine rounds, the Indian made his third GM norm, besides clinching the crown.

This victory made Varshney India's 92nd GM. The 21-year-old had a rating gain of 15.8 points, besides racking up a performance rating of 2659! Aleksey Goganov (5.5) and Jegor Lashkin (5) took the second and third spots.

Despite doorstep
pick up scheme, open dumping persists

By N Rathi Chithra

Months after the Greater Chennai Corporation (GCC) launched a dedicated doorstep collection scheme for bulky household waste, open dumping of old furniture and discarded items continues to be a common sight in parts of Mogappair, raising concerns over civic awareness, enforcement and last-mile implementation.

A photograph taken recently in Mogappair shows old sofas, mattresses, broken concrete slabs and mixed waste dumped along a residential street, partially blocking a stormwater drain and spilling on to the pavement. The debris, discarded beneath trees and near a compound wall, highlights how residents continue to rely on informal dumping spots despite the availability of a free, scheduled collection service.

The GCC had announced the bulky waste removal scheme several months ago to address precisely such issues. Under the programme, residents can dispose of large household items such as old sofas, beds, cupboards, mattresses, clothes and broken furniture by booking a pickup on Saturdays. Requests can be made by calling the civic helpline 1913, sending a WhatsApp message to 9445061913 or registering through the Namma Chennai App. Once logged, civic staff are alerted and a designated vehicle is sent to collect the items from the doorstep, which are then transported to an incineration facility for safe disposal.

However, residents say that awareness of the scheme remains patchy.

Sharwin Raj of Velammal Vidyalaya Vanagaram with a points tally of 4.5 out of 6 did well in the under 10 category at the State-Level Chess Tournament.
