CITIZENS who go to vote, must carry one of the 13 photo proofs along with the voter information slip (VIS) as the poll panel has done away with the system of using images on the voter slip, says the chief electoral officer.

The voter information slip (VIS) to be issued for the upcoming Assembly elections will contain only polling station details and will not include a photograph, making it mandatory to carry photo proof along with the slip.

The voter information slip this time will have a QR code, which will enable them to access key information such as the name of their polling station, address, polling station number, voter number in the electoral roll, and the helpline numbers for the state and district.

If a voter does not have a voter information slip and his name is registered in the voter list, then the voter will be able to cast his vote by showing any one of the 13 alternative documents containing a photo. Voters can show any of the 13 proofs.

Open bridge without barricades raises safety concerns

By N Rathi Chithra

THE new bridge connecting Rail Nagar near Mogappair East to the Koyambedu-Maduravoyal Highway, which opened for traffic a few months ago following the closure of the Rail Nagar Bridge, has come under scrutiny for lacking basic safety measures, particularly barricades along its edges.

The bridge was thrown open to facilitate uninterrupted connectivity after the older Rail Nagar Bridge was shut, forcing commuters to rely on alternative routes. Since then, the new stretch has witnessed steady vehicular movement, serving as a crucial link for residents in Mogappair East, Padi Kuppam, Rail Nagar and surrounding localities.

However, commuters are now raising serious concerns over the absence of protective railings or barricades along portions of the bridge. A section of the road runs dangerously close to an open edge abutting a water body and uneven terrain, with no physical barrier to prevent vehicles from slipping off.

The risk is particularly high for two-wheeler riders, who make up a significant portion of the traffic. With slight curves along the stretch and limited shoulder space, even a minor lapse in judgment could prove dangerous. The problem is compounded during nighttime due to inadequate lighting in parts of the bridge.

Field observations show in some sections, the carriageway appears narrow, leaving little room for error when vehicles pass each other. Pedestrians, including residents from nearby areas, are also seen walking along the bridge, further increasing vulnerability.

"This bridge is helpful after the old one was closed, but it feels unsafe without barricades. There is always a fear while riding," said a daily commuter.

Road safety experts point out that barricades or parapet walls are a basic requirement for bridges, especially those running alongside water bodies or at elevated levels. The absence of such features raises questions about whether the bridge was opened before all safety components were fully completed.

Residents have urged authorities to intervene immediately. They have called for the installation of sturdy barricades, proper levelling of road margins, removal of debris, and improved street lighting.

While the bridge has eased connectivity and reduced travel time following the closure of the Rail Nagar Bridge, its current condition has left commuters navigating the stretch with caution. With traffic expected to increase further, residents stress that urgent corrective measures are necessary to prevent potential accidents.

Authorities are yet to respond officially to the concerns raised by the public.

Abandoned tractors trigger health and safety concerns

By N Rathi Chithra

TRACTORS that have been parked and left unattended for several months on Ori Salai in Mogappair East are raising serious concerns among residents, who say the vehicles have turned into a source of garbage accumulation and mosquito breeding.

The tractors, stationed along the roadside next to a large apartment complex, appear to have been unused for a prolonged period. With no visible ownership claim or maintenance activity, the vehicles have effectively become dumping spots for waste and debris. Residents allege that the area around the tractors is increasingly unhygienic, with litter, dry leaves, and stagnant water collecting in and around the machinery.

Local residents say the problem has persisted for months without any intervention from civic authorities. "These tractors have not moved for a very long time. People have started throwing garbage near them, and now it has become a breeding ground for mosquitoes," said a resident of the nearby apartment complex.

The concern is particularly acute given the public health risks associated with mosquito breeding, including diseases such as dengue and chikungunya, which tend to spike in urban areas with poor sanitation and stagnant water sources. The cluttered condition around the tractors, coupled with irregular waste disposal, has only worsened the situation.

Apart from health hazards, the abandoned vehicles are also causing inconvenience to road users. Ori Salai, though not a major arterial road, sees regular movement of two-wheelers, cars, and small commercial vehicles. The tractors occupy valuable roadside space, narrowing the carriage-way and forcing vehicles to manoeuvre carefully, especially during peak hours.

Residents also point out that the presence of the tractors contributes to an overall sense of neglect in the neighbourhood. "This is a residential area with many families. When such things are left unattended for so long, it reflects poorly on civic upkeep," another resident said.

Urban civic experts have often noted that abandoned vehicles in residential areas must be promptly identified and removed or relocated by authorities. If left unchecked, they not only create sanitation issues but also pose safety risks and can become hubs for pests and illegal dumping.

Residents have urged the Greater Chennai Corporation and local ward officials to take immediate action by clearing the garbage, removing or relocating the tractors, and ensuring regular monitoring to prevent recurrence. They have also called for stricter enforcement against leaving vehicles abandoned on public roads.

Residents claim that no concrete steps have been taken so far. With summer approaching and fears of mosquito-borne diseases rising, they stress that swift action is necessary to prevent the situation from escalating into a public health issue.

The Kindergarten Annual Day and Convocation of Dayasadan Agarwal Vidyalaya (DSAV) was celebrated with great fervour and pride on March 14 at the school premises. The event marked a significant milestone in the academic journey of the young learners as they graduated from kindergarten and prepared to step into primary education. Ms Vijayalakshmi Seshan, Counseling Psychologist and Co-founder of Phonic Champs and Ms Archana Yedanapalli, Chairperson of Young Indians (Yi) Thalir were the guests of honour. Others present were school President Shri Gopalji Agrawal, Correspondent, Mr B.P. Jhunjhunwala, Cultural Secretary, Ms Shilpa Tulsian and Principal Smt Latha B.

K. Asaithambi, PGT – Mathematics at Velammal Vidyalaya, Mogappair West, was honoured with the "Inspirational Educator" Award by Shri Krishnaswamy College for Women in recognition of his dedication and excellence in teaching.
